Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

Is the national solicitude for, and the California hysteria regarding the welfare of, folks over 50 years of age warranted by any general, wide-spread condition of suffering among the oldsters? We do not believe it is. What seems to be spreading, is the indifference of children to what happens to their parents. When one takes into account the vote accorded that blatant opportunist, Sheridan Downey, the would-be Ham-and-Egg Senator, one must conclude that not only did a great number of people over fifty vote for him, but that an even greater number of young people, anxious to shoulder off the care of their parents upon the tax payers, also voted for him.

Dr. Townsend and the Ham-and Eggers have started a new crusade. Millions of old folks that used to holds their heads up and swear by the great Jehovah that they could take care of themselves, come hell or high water, have been taught by Dr. Roosevelt, Dr. Townsend, and these Hollywood Ham-and-Egg shysters, that old people who keep busy and happy by doing something useful and serviceable for their fellow men, are really an incumbrance, excess baggage, in the New Deal march to Utopia.

Personally, we are so tired of these whimpering and gullible oldsters, some of them a good decade yoounger than this writer, who believe anything that falls from the lips of any soap box ranter or fire side chatterer, that we could wish all their dreams realized. For we can imagine no hell torture worse than a palm permanently extended for charity tax money that has been earned by the sweat of one's fellow men. For the conscienceless rascals that coddle and cozen our "senior citizens" into thinking that they have done something specially meritorious in living to a ripe old age without a dime to bless themselves with, however, we would reserve a special pit in the Inferno where they might suffer all the itches, including the money itch, that curse the world.

But since the New Deal has been preaching in a large way that prudence, thrift and frugality are among the passe virtues of Americans, that saving money and investing it carefully against the day when the citizen will no longer be able to turn handsprings on his way to work, it can be readily seen that base imitators of the Great White Father in Washington, have copied his fireside technique, and have launched little Utopias of their own. Paradoxical as it may seem, these brazen, uplift racketeers are actuated solely by the profit motif. At last accounts, the Hollywood hatchers of this Ham-and-Egg bedevilment have garnered over a quarter of a million dollars from the old folks of California and such of the young folks as were anxious to use this slick scheme for shuffling off their responsibilities to their aging parents.

The aborigenes of this country, some tribes at least, had a better system than getting their old people all "het up" about a lavish living at the rest of the tribe's expense. When the men became so old that they could no longer shoot an arrow straight, when the old women could no longer tan buckskin because their teeth were worn down to the gums, a committee of young men was appointed to lead these oldsters into the woods and with war clubs dispatch them to the happy hunting ground. We hold that this system was no more heartless than of the younger generation of today who vote to make their parents a public charge on their tax paying neighbors.

Fifty years ago in country school houses throughout the land, during the literary exercises on the afternoon of the last day of the school term, one of the favorite poems recited was: "Over the Hill to the Poorhouse." It was considered in those days a disgrace to go to the poorhouse. People who went to the poorhouse were regarded as wastrels. For the most part they were people who had spent their youth in riotous living, in squandering their substance in gambling or drinking, or, in some instances, they were victims of accident or disease. But children, financially able to take care of their parents were not permitted to foist them off on the tax payers.

Under the New Deal we hear nothing of the poorhouse. It is something divinely sublimated. No one need take thought of the morrow, not even men who throw up their jobs at the command of labor racketeers. In fact the New Deal has not only elevated the poorhouse into the greatest institution of its kind in all history, but it is a tail that wags the dog.

The Poorhouse which Mr. Roosevelt has created in one of his many generous moments (with the peoples' money) is a grandiose institution which overtops the statue of Liberty, Washington's monument, the Lincoln Memorial, and the forty eight states. The upkeep of this institution costs an average, in round figures of three billion dollars a year. And to cap this tremendous achievement, Mr. Roosevelt has persuaded the inmates it is no longer a disgrace to accept charity, because charity is now handled, the greater part of it, at least by the President himself. Not only is it not a disgrace, but the Poorhouse folk have joined the CIO and they demand a better living than many of the taxpayers who support them can provide for themselves. The tail wags the dog. The Poorhouse, under the President's manipulation yearly grows bigger and better, and unless the Great White Father changes his mind presently, the Poorhouse will engulf the United States.

Tomorrow is election day. The voters of California are to decide whether we shall elect candidates who will enlarge the national Poorhouse and its California Annex, and consign more of our citizens to live in it, or whether they will choose Merriam, Franklin and Bancroft, and call a halt upon the impoverishment of the Golden State and by that much slow up the sad, national parade that is headed "Over the Hill to the Poorhouse."

CANADIAN EDITOR APPRAISES NEW DEAL RESULTS

The editor of the Toronto Globe and Empire writes the most concise indictment of the New Deal that has ever been called to our attention. He says: "It (the New Deal) has been the most collosal spendthrift in history, and without results; it has welshed upon its platform promises of retrenchment; it is squandering the money of the people in partisan propaganda; it has elevated many a political accident to high office, including the Supreme Court; it has badgered and impeded business, big and small; it has held up to public ridicule and hate the producers of material wealth for party purposes; it has built up power by exploitation of the misery of 13,000,000 unemployed, and has accomplished nothing for the latter after five years of glib promise and expenditure of $20,000,000,000; it has sapped the morale of the people by inculcating the idea that the Government owes every man a living; it has adopted the policy of scarcity, paying farmers for that which they have not raised, and at the same time spent billions to increase productivity of the soil; it has murdered hundreds of thousands of pigs while human millions cried out for sustenance; it has encouraged class hatred by abuse from high places; it has set capital against labor, and labor against capital; and it has tacitly sanctioned mob expropriation of property, and it has abridged personal freedom guaranteed by the constitution.

"We are tired to death of pink communism and sick at heart that a great Nation, leading the world in initiative and individualism, should have been brought perilously close to its knees by a Pied Piper of the air, fatuously fluting in ragtime.

"Its whole mistaken popularity has been based upon the sob appeal that a third of the nation is ill-fed, ill-clothed and ill-housed and the collateral idea that the national sock is everlastingly stuffed full. No decent man, here or elsewhere, begrudges one penny paid out for the aid and sustenance of those really in want, but the New Deal has squandered billions in deliberate, drunken-sailor prodigality and concealment of the facts and intent.

"We believe the richest country the world has known is headed for New Deal catastrophe if a halt be not called at once; that its people, and there are none finer, are being brought down to shameful misery by the most colossal stupidity that political insanity has yet devised for its own self-perpetuating ends."

SCOUT DRIVE TO OPEN WEDNES.

Horace Curnow, chairman of the Boy Scout committee for Nevada City, announces the annual drive for operating funds will be made on Wednesday, November 9, Sufficient volunteers have already responded to complete the team necessary for soliciting the business district. There are probably a great many people who would like to contribute to the support of Scout activities, but whom the campaign committee will not be able to contact personally and these are invited to leave their contribution at the Nevada City branch of the Bank of America or the Nevada City Nugget office.

It takes money to finance Scout activities, and it is to the interest of both the business man and the average citizen to maintain scouting whether they have potential scouts in their respective households or not. Most people, whether religious or not, are reluctant to settle in a community that has no church. Scouting is so well recognized that the same reasoning might well be applied to it. That is, the potential resident might well doubt the moral standard in a community if of sufficient size, that did not boast at least one Boy Scout Troop. Chief of Police Robson says that his experience with the yooung people of the community Boy Scouts are, on the average, more truthful, that Scouting is a real benefit in the development of character and preventive of juvenile delinquency.

Five hundred and sixty two Boy Scouts were quartered at Camp Pahatsi during the past winter, according to Harris Ricksecker, Boy Scout executive for the Donner area. Ricksecker expects a larger number each winter in keeping with the increased interest in winter sports.

PINE GROVE CEMETERY IS MUCH IMPROVED

A great many favorable comments are being heard in regards to cleaning up Pine Grove cemetery by A. M. Holmes. Two men were employed quite a number of days doing the work. The ground not in use was first cleaned, a great many old abandoned plots, roads, paths made tidy and even the highway along the side of the cemetery was cleared. A lot of new pipe was purchased and this adds much to the improvement of the water system in the cemetery.

OFFICERS HEAR COMPLAINTS OF NIGHTLY BRAWLS

At a special meeting in the court house on Friday morning Rae Barton, proprietress of Rae's Cafe on Commercial street, was called upon to show cause why her liquor license should not be revoked for selling liquor after 2 a. m. and conducting a disorderly house. Complaint was filed against her by W. G. Robson, Nevada City Chief of Police.

E. A. McDonald, of Sacramento, State Referee for the State Board of Equalization conducted the hearing. With him was Chester A. Smith, enforcement officer from Marysville and Russel B. Farley, Supervisor of liquor control for this district.

Jim Allen of the Nevada City police department and Clifford L. Warner, artist, of Nevada City both gave testimony against Mrs. Barton. Allen, the first witness called, testified as follows:

"On October 23, at 3 a. m. he and Police Chief Robson went to Rae's Cafe on Commercial street, entered it and found three persons there drinking, and three coming out, all intoxicated. The three leaving the cafe were too intoxicated to drive their car so Mr. Allen took their keys away and impounded the car. Inside they found Mrs. Barton and two men, all drinking beer from bottles. When questioned by the police Mrs. Barton stated that the beer had been purchased before 2 a. m.

On October 26 Mr. Allen arrested a man named Barnet, an employee of the cafe, for disturbing the peace. In an intoxicated condition he hit a man named Torpey over the head with a stool, injuring his skull to such an extent that he had to be rushed to a doctor and have several stitches taken in his head. Barnet was arrested, fined $20 and plead guilty to the charges. Mrs. Barton acknowledged the fight but claimed the drinks were bought before 2 a. m. She said Barnet, intoxicated, came to her crying and said: "I hit my best friend."

On October 7, at 10:30 p. m. Allen stated he had stopped a fight that started inside the cafe and wound up out on the street. Mrs. Barton was not present.

And on October 9, Allen said he saw a man named Roberts come out of the cafe with a broken nose, the result of a brawl inside.

Mrs. Barton was warned that her license would be revoked if such disorderly conduct was not discontinued, but according to the police testimony and that of Warner, the warning has been ignored.

Chief Robson then testified that he had seen Mrs. Barton intoxicated on the premises and also intoxicated persons drinking at the bar.

Chief of Police Robson then testified that he had witnessed on several occasions drunken persons in the cafe and emerging from it at all hours of the night. He stated the usual nightly procedure at the cafe was to turn all the front lights out at 2 a. m. when the patrons would all retire to a back room to continue drinking. He warned Mrs. Barton several times and threatened to have her license revoked.

Russel B. Farley, supervisor of liquor control for this district then took the stand and stated that acting upon the advice of Police Chief Robson he came up to Nevada City on October 29 to investigate the situation. He claims he has such a large territory to cover that he depended upon Robson to uphold the liquor enforcement in Nevada City, feeling he was capable of doing so. But he did look into the matter, he stated, found everything in order but saw Mrs. Barton under the influence of liquor.

The case was then closed with State Referee E. A. McDonald stating that his report would be sent to the State Board of Equalization, who will render a decision on the case November 16.

Mass Meeting Tonight On Election Issues In Grass Valley

There will be a mass meeting this evening at the junction of Mill and Main street in Grass Valley at which a number of speakers will discuss candidates and measures on the ballot in tomorrow's election.

The meeting will open early at 6:45 and the first speaker will be Olney Donnelly, president of Mine Workers Protective League. Among other speakers will be Hal Draper and Mrs. H. E. Kjorlie of Nevada City.

Tomorrow the polls will open at 6 o'clock and close at 7 in the evening. A heavy vote is anticipated in all poling places throughout the county, due first to the fact that there is intense interest in the contest for the Coroner's and District Attorney's offices, and second to the sharp cleavage in public sentiment over the Ham and Egg plan and the candidates supporting it, Olson, Patterson and Downey, and opposed to the candidates Governor Merriam, Dr. Franklin and Bancroft against it.

The issue goes far deeper, however, than Ham and Eggs. Involved are questions of setting up a pension and taxation dictatorship in California, which will result if Ham and Eggs wins, of keeping California's taxes from mounting to astronomical figures, as would be the case if the three visionaries masquerading as Democrats were elected, and of surrendering the state' government to the same radical and subversive elements that attempted to capture it under the EPIC banner of Upton Sinclair four years ago.

From many sources come assurance that voters this year have devoted more study than ever before to the 25 measures which they will find on the ballot tomorrow.

However for the guidance of its readers who have not made a study of the twenty five measures on the ballot, the Nugget makes the following recommendations. Clip this out and take it to the polls:

1.	Regulating Labor Unions	YES
2.	Antivivisection	NO
3.	Against Gas Tax Diversion	YES
4.	New State Highway Commission	NO
5.	Control of Fish Reduction Plants	YES

VOTE "YES" ON NO. 1

Definite, long-continued symptoms show that California is seriously ill, economically, as a consequence of labor disturbances, which are beyond the control of our present laws to regulate. An intensive state-wide study was made of the ailment, much in the same way that a skilled and kindly physician studies the symptoms of a very sick patient, whom he hopes to help. The consequence was the compounding of a curative "medicine" which will appear on the November 8 ballot as Proposition No. 1.

The symptoms which made this legol "medicine" necessary are apparent to everyone. Men at work are beaten, maimed, even murdered. Employers are subjected to mass picketing to force them to induce their employees to join one union or another against their wills and when the employees had no quarrel with their employers. Highways, sidewalks, docks and wharves are no longer free for public use. Farmers' truck drivers are required to belong to a union to bring produce into Los Angeles and San Francisco. Terrorism has spread throughout the agricultural sections of the state as roving racketeers seek to collect tribute from growers, farmers, or their employees.

If union leaders, such as Messrs. Bridges and Beck, have their way, freedom of individuals to get and hold a job on merit will end. These leaders want a closed shop, which would give them dictatorial control over the actual means of livelihood of all men and women who work for a living. And yet they accept no responsibility for the chaos created by their bitter, ruthlessly ambitious rivalry for leadership. Nearly two generations ago, employers learned that a "public be damned" philosophy won't work in this country. Union labor leaders haven't yet learned that lesson and Proposition No. 1 is designed to teach it to them, and to cure them of the mental illness which leads men to strive to become dictators. It does this without the slightest interference with the internal affairs of unions, nor with the individual rights of anyone. On the contrary it protects those rights from the very real dictatorship we now have in California, represented by selfish labor lealers, drunk with a lust for

CAR ACCIDENT ON TOWN TALK

Deputy Sheriff Carl Larsen was called to an auto wreck at Town Talk at about 8:30 last evening in which Conrado Carretero and companion of Sacramento received injuries. Carretero was taken to Jones memorial hospital and this morning it was stated that his condition was good. A cut between the eyes and up his forehead cut to the bone.

Mr. Larsen said that evidently the driver started to take the upper Grass Valley-Nevada City highway and when near the cross roads took the lower road. The car went out of control stopping against a post which prevented its going into the railroad cut. The crash broke the gas line. The car ignited and was a mass of flames before help arrived. Max Solaro and Nevada City fire truck were called to the scene to extinguish the fire.

ABSENTEE VOTES

About 325 Nevada county voters have cast absentee ballot. County Clerk R. N. McCormack states the number is unusually high for a general election.

Mrs. Mardel Sweeney of San Francisco spent the past week end in Nevada City visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Sweeney and little daughter, Jeanne Titus.

power and seeking an easy, luxurious living from dues wrung by force from wages and salaries badly needed to maintain homes and bring up children.

Is it true that the right of collective bargaining is denied? No. It is expressly sanctioned and protected.

Is it true that strikes are prohibited? No. To strike is a right established by all the courts of the land. This law cannot and does not attempt to interfere with this right.

Is it true that the right of workers to organize is denied? No. It is an expressly recognized right.

Is it true that all boycotting is prohibited? No. Only secondary boycotting is made unlawful. A secondary boycott is a boycott against one person to compel him to boycott some other person with whom he has no quarrel. Secondary boycotting incidentally is unlawful in all the states of the union except three. California is one of the three.

Is it true that two or more persons are in danger of conviction for the crime of unlawful conspiracy punishable by fine and imprisonment, if they agree to request citizens to buy American goods and not patronize or work for merchants who sell foreign goods, or to refrain from patronizing price fixing monopolies that charge exorbitant prices, or to buy goods at a store paying low wages? No The law prescribes that it shall be interpreted in conformity with the declared policy of the state as set forth in that law. Reasoning ultra technically the conclusion might be reached that if two persons, sitting at luncheon, agree not to purchase the products of some establishment or other they are guilty of violation of the anti-trust law of the nation which have been in force for many years. Somewhat similar absurd eventualities are being seriously urged as a profound objection to Proposition No. 1.

Is it true that this law would deprive the citizen of the right of free speech (which could not be accomplished if attempted, because as everyone knows it is a right guaranteed by the Constitutions of the United States and of California)? No. But it is a fact that people now are frequently so intimidated by coercive practices in labor affairs that they fear to speak with freedom. That being so, one of the main objectives of this law is to prevent in employment relations coercion from any source whatsoever. Thus Proposition Number 1 protects the right of every person to freedom of speech, opinion and action.

THIS AND THAT

By ROY GRIFFITHS DEETER

LADIES AND GEN-TEL-MEN, tomorrow we vote! We imagine with the weather so bright and all there ought to be a pretty heavy turnout of voters. We hope so. We also hope many of you will heed our words of wisdom (?) when we again urge that you vote NO on Nos. 4 and (most particularly) 20. We would like to reassert our previous contention that we believe Olson MUST be defeated for despite all the radio talks and other propaganda we still think he is something very, very undesirable that would not look nice AT ALL in the Gubernatorial Mansion—and we beg of you very humbly to bear this fact in mind when you go to the polls. The local race for D. A. is going to be mightly interesting going, mightly interesting, and we are watching for it with keen attention—for Coroner, well we've known Andy this many a long year, and we think he's pretty swell even if he does do amazing things to his swimming pool, darned if that fence of his would not have made a staggering good election sigh board—and it is a point in his favor that he didn't use it!

And having got that all off our chest, we come back to this proposition 20 again. Don't forget the answer to that one is a small two letter word, no, NO, and also NO on No. 4, because this measure would totally disrupt our present smooth-running State Highway Patrol system and it would place in the hands of a politically controlled commission, the safety of your loved ones, it is a bad bet, and we earnestly suggest you side track it with a large negative. And ANOTHER thing—and NOW we really are sticking our neck out, we personally are VERY DEFINITELY voting YES for the No. 2 Pound proposition, DESPITE our good friends in the medical profession. We know you will get up and scream "what is the ife of a dog compared to the life of a child?" But THAT isn't exactly our point, we would like to go into details but space does not permit. But we will say this much—we have read the thing VERY, VERY carefully, and being a great lover of dogs, practically surrounded with them at all times, and also believing that there ARE times when their lives MUST be sacrificed in the name of science—we are STILL voting YES, and if YOU love dogs, we don't think we are giving you a bad steer.

OUT OUR WAY. Had a good laugh yesterday, during the afternoon, a very small boy ambled up to our domicile, knocked upon the door, and when same was opened peered at us and said: "Are you the Deeters?" We replied, yes, we were the Deeters. Whereupon he proceeded to tell us that he was selling papers, for a nickle each and despite the fact that he had been locally discouraged from invading our domain and trying to sell us one of his wares (or words to this effect, you understand) he decided to try. Well we dug deep and produced the necessary nickle and he departed, but only a short distance. He came back, knocked upon the door, we were about to leap up and say "yes, we are the Deeters" but were fortstalled by loud cries of anguish. "Have you, this very small boy inquired any PICKPOCKETS around here?" Slightly dumfounded we assured him that wood peckers were about the nearest thing we had to pickpockets today-we-are-sorry-and-why? "Well, it is funny" he wailed, "I had three five centses when I came up here and now I have only one, somebody most CERTAINLY picked my pocket." We suggested it MIGHT be a hole in the pocket but he denied this and went away muttering—we have been terribly nervous ever since—fearing that behind each tree, there must lurk some sinister nickle snatcher.

PERSONALITIES: Mr. and Mrs. Carl Libby, in old fashioned costumes, singing a very cleverly worded announcement of the engagement of Nell Baggley, charming member of the high school faculty, to Peavine Parsons himself, a perfectly grand party they gave to celebrate this event. The wedding bells will peal t Easter we believe, and with this delightful bit of news we will say, be sure and vote RIGHT, and cheerio, everybody.

REGARDLESS OF THE WORLDLY OR SOCIAL STATUS IN LIFE, THOSE WHO HAVE DEPARTED WERE ALWAYS GIVEN REVERENT ATTENTION WHEN I WAS CORONER.

The indigent dead under my administration were never interred in the Potter's Field, when I was Coroner. I always found a last resting place for them, in a licensed cemetery, with a name instead of a number over their graves.

THESE POLICIES I PLEDGE MYSELF TO RESUME IF I AM ELECTED—

Surprise Party for Mr. and Mrs. Gwin.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Gwin. who have been comfortably located in their new home on Zion street for about three weeks, were given a complete surprise last Friday evening when thirty friends gave them a delightful housewarming. Mr. and Mrs. Gwin had gone to Sacramento with DeWitt Nelson, superintendent of the Tahoe National forest, and wife, for the day. Upon their return home all the guests had congregated and were waiting their arrival.

Cards were played for several hours with Mr. Mitchell winning a first in whist and Mrs. W. P. Lee high score in bridge. Mr. and Mrs. Gwin were presented with a book case for their new home by the group all of whom are connected with the local headquarters of the Tahoe National forest. Refreshments were enjoyed at the close of the evening.

Miss Lois Eden Weds Alton Davies

A beautiful and impressive wedding service at the Methodist church at 1:30 yesterday united Miss Lois Eden and Alton Davies, two popular Nevada City young people. There were about one hundred relatives and friends present for the service which was performed by Rev. H. H. Buckner of the Methodist church.

The bride was given in marriage by her odest brother, William Eden. Robert Beegel of San Francisco, was best man. Mrs. Howard Penrose, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Miss Elma Eden, also sister of the bride, was bridesmaid.

The bride was dressed in white marquesette with finger tip veil. She carried an all white bouquet of lilies of the valley. The matron of honor wore a turquoise blue lace dress and carried bronze flowers and the maid of honor wore a peach colored lace dress and also carried bronze flowers. After the serevice a reception was held at the home of the brides mother, Mrs. Charles Eden, in Indian Flat, where about sixty friends gathered.

The charming little bride has been employed by the Penrose and son grocery store for some time and is a graduate of the local schools.

The groom was associated with his brother for a time operating the Plaza garage. He is also a graduate from the local schools, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davies of this city.

Immediately after the reception the young couple left on a honeymoon to be spent in Southern Oregon.

POLICE CHIEF RESCUES DOG IN OLD SHAFT

Chief of Police Garfield Robson and assistants were called at eight o'clock last evening to rescue the dog of Mrs. P. Rohrig on Piety Hill when she found he had fallen into the old Sierra Queen mine shaft. Mrs Rohrig missed her pet and when she found him he had lodged on a ledge in the shaft which had caved in the last storm. Again the chief's skill as a stockman came to the fore. "Buckaree" Robson brought out his rope and lassoed the dog bringing him to surface. Street Superintendent H. Hallett will now fill the caved shaft to prevent further mishaps to persons or animals.

HOLMES STANDS ON PAST RECORD OF GOOD SERVICE

A. M. Holmes, candidate for election to the office of Coroner of Nevada County, at the election tomorrow, announced today that he is running for that office on his ability to do the job. He stands on his past record of service to the people of the county at the minimum cost outlined by the board of supervisors, and on his straightforward dealing in all the affairs of the office, whether directly affecting the public or relating solely to an individual.

Many of the cases which are handled in the county coroner's office automatically become his private business, and it has always been Mr. Holmes' policy to treat every such case with the greatest consideration for the individual family of any such person deceased and their immediate relatives.

His humane friendliness and his earnest desire to serve each individual that so characterized his activities in private business have influenced all his actions in the coroner's office. It has been his basic policy to meet the needs of everyone exactly as they desired and in accord with their own wishes in regard to finances.

In office and out of office, A. M. Holmes has always met his clients, in the same straightforward way, with entire sincere regard for them, and it is that attitude he will carry into the coroner's office if elected to do it.

That his business standards and ethics are above reproach is best seen in his appointment by the governor to the State Board of Funeral Directors and Embalmers, an honorary position which CARRIES NO PAY.

That Mr. Holmes is highly regarded by his fellows in the profession may be gathered from their confidence in electing him to serve as secretary to the board, and at a salary of $170 per month.

Although the greater part of this salary is consumed in meeting expenses of travel, conducting hearings, and maintaining the office, his holding it also enables him to provide employment for another local boy, at the same time giving the people of the community the maximum of service at all times.

A. M. Holmes is satisfied to put the issue to the voters, and gives them his sincere assurance that they will not be disappointed in the conduct of the office should he be elected.

THOROUGHLY EQUIPPED BY TRAINING AND EXPERIENCE TO SHOULDER THE DUTIES OF THE OFFICE.
